Mission Statement: “To preserve and authentically maintain vehicles manufactured by the Ford Motor Company for the model years 1932 through 1953 inclusive, and to serve as an accurate and technical source of information concerning these automobiles for the benefit of its members as well as the general public.”

Presidents Message

Spring has sprung but here in Northern Ohio one would never know it. Sat and Sun there were people on motorcycles, convertible tops down, the Metro Park was full of people having picnics enjoying the mid 80-degree weather and by Wed. they are predicting snow and a freeze in the evening. We are definitely a hearty bunch. Have no fear as this summer is looking to make up for this mess. After being locked down for the last couple of years, this summer looks like it should be a lot of fun with events that we haven't enjoyed in quite a while.

We start off with an afternoon at the Cleveland Yacht Club on May 28. This is a very enjoyable way to get the cars out and blow off the cobwebs.

June 18 is considered “NATIONAL DRIVE YOU OLD CAR DAY” Seeing that we can't use the meeting room in June and we won't have a meeting that month. In the place of the June meeting, we are going to hold a “One tank road trip” to Bowling Green, Ohio. We have lunch at a local restaurant and tour a private museum, of course there will be an ice cream stop on the way home. Details are in this newsletter. There are also other events planned during the course of the summer. The fun of being a member of a car club is hanging out with your friends and enjoying driving our old toys. Lets see if we can relive some of the enjoyable events of years past.

In closing I want to thank Rich Jandrey for the many years of scheduling speakers for our monthly meetings. This a tough task and Rich has come threw with flying colors. To lesson the burden, he needs help finding speakers. It was brought to my attention that it doesn't always need to be auto related. Some of our female members have said that it would be nice to be something that the ladies could relate to. So, ladies and gentlemen lets put our thinking caps on and see what we can come up with as far as speakers.

Let's get out our polish and buffing cloths out and start this summer off with a bang! Jack

May Program

Kim Todd and Jim Englert of Hagerty Insurance will be at our meeting to explain the advantages of benefits of Hagerty.

MINUTES FOR THE MEETING OF April 22, 2022

President Jack Bukszar called the meeting to order at 7:30 p.m. Jack asked members to introduce themselves and their cars. We held off telling too many lies about our cars until after the meeting.

Program chair Rich Jandrey introduced Lyn Smith, our speaker for the evening. Lyn began his work career in the maintenance department of a local hospital, but when an opportunity to buy a Pure Oil gas station came up he decided to pursue his real interest in automotive mechanics. He was active in the drag racing scene and won a first place in his class at the 1973 national races in Bristol, Tennessee. With his experience in racing, repairing broken machinery seemed like a good way to make a living. He ran his own auto repair business for more years than he cares to remember. He "retired" from the repair business when an opportunity to work as a forensic mechanic presented itself. As a forensic mechanic, he is called upon by insurance companies to investigate accidents when there is a claim that the accident was caused by a mechanical failure in a vehicle. His job is to determine whether or not the claimed failure actually happened or if it is possible that it caused the accident.

To illustrate the type of work he does, Lyn described a case in which a minivan was involved in a fatal crash because the brakes failed. When he inspected the vehicle he found that a brake line had been repaired using a compression fitting instead of a proper double flared fitting. He passed around examples of both compression fittings and double flared fittings. Compression fittings are only designed for low pressure applications and should never be used in a brake line, so in the case of the crash of the minivan the cause of the crash really was a mechanical failure due to an improper repair. In the lawsuit resulting from the accident, the repair shop that did the improper repair settled out of court for a substantial amount of money.

Secretary Neal Garland read the minutes of the March meeting. Rick Jandrey moved that the minutes be approved as read. Second by Craig Gorris. The minutes were approved.

Jack informed us that our treasurers are out of town--probably in Honolulu--and that they had left their report with him. He was happy to report that we still do have a treasury, probably.

National representative Steve Kronen reminded us that the Eastern National Meet will be held in Franklin, Tennessee, on June 1-5. Check the most recent issue of the V8 Times or the national club's website for details.

Webmaster Regis Schilling reported that our website is doing well and that we still haven't been hacked into. Yet.

Membership chair Craig Gorris reported that all of the new club rosters have been distributed to members and that we may have a new member--Tom Weirden (sp?) from Independence, Ohio. He has a 1940 Ford. He contacted Craig for advice on his car and decided to join. Welcome, Tom! Jack Bukszar noted that we have club calling cards that we should try to give to prospective members at swap meets and other car related activities. Jack has a box of the cards, so see him if you need any.

Annette Gorris informed us that there are no problems with our newsletter. She and Craig will appreciate any items club members can send them for inclusion in the newsletter.

Jack announced that he has received raffle tickets from the Eastern National meet organizers. He suggested that the club buy $50 worth of tickets and use them as prizes for our 50/50 raffle. Members agreed, so the tickets were added to the items available to winners of the 50/50 drawing for the evening.

Jack reminded members of a number of events we have scheduled for this summer. These include a visit on May 7 to the Templar Auto Museum in Lakewood, organized by Earl Peters, a visit on May 21 to the Skyway Drive-In Restaurant in Akron organized by Bruce Lewicki and the Nifty Fifties Club, a trip to the "Wheels and Keels" event sponsored by the Cleveland Yacht Club on May 28, a cruise on June 18 to visit Snook's private car collection in Bowling Green, Ohio, organized by Jack Bukszar, the picnic at Dave and Nancy Collette's farm on July 30, a weekend trip on August 12-14 to the Gilmore Museum in Kalamazoo, Michigan, organized by Jack Bukszar, and a corn roast at Ron and Karen Mihalek's farm on October 1. Other activities may be added later, including a possible breakfast at the Mihalek's farm. Watch the Headliner for more information.

Regis Schilling announced that the Cuyahoga Valley Scenic Railroad will be running their steam train through the valley on May 13 and 21. They would like to have some volunteers bring their antique cars to one of the stations for photo purposes. Contact Regis if you are interested in volunteering.

Beth Schilling informed us that she will again be participating in the "Relay for Life" fund raising event. Contact her if you are interested in contributing.

Jack Bukszar told us that we have permission to use the meeting room in the Stow Safety Building until 10:00 p.m. on meeting nights, so it is OK to hang around and kick tires for a while after the meeting ends. We adjourned at 9:05 p.m.

HOW TO BE AN EXPERT DRIVER

by Al Esper, Chief Test Driver,
Ford Motor Company

Ford's Chief Test Driver Al Esper the Face of Expert Driver Education Campaign.

By John Emmering

The strategy was to interest beginner drivers in the Ford line of fine cars while they were young in the hope that when it was time to purchase a new car they would turn to Ford products. Ford Motor Company turned to their Chief Test Driver Al Esper to be the spokesman for a series of illustrated booklets published from 1946 through the 1950's geared to teach beginners "How to be an Expert Driver".

In the years before video games and other distractions many young people enjoyed reading comic books. Ford published these comic book pamphlets which demonstrated good driving techniques and also highlighted the positive features of Ford Automobiles. The comic format appealed to teenagers.

Long time Ford Motor Company employee Al Esper had a history with the firm. Al's grandparents had been neighbors with Henry Ford and his family in rural Dearborn and he started work at Ford in 1917 at 18 years of age. He needed to work to help support his family after his father's death.

Esper began in the Model T magneto section, later assembled tractors at the Rouge and worked on the Ford family speed boats. He became involved in Ford Aviation also. Al was an all around expert mechanic whose talent was recognized.

When the company began an automobile testing program in 1938 and built it's Dearborn Test Track, Al was assigned as a test driver. The track itself was 2.6 miles around and Al and other drivers would put many miles on randomly selected Ford cars and then take them apart to see if there was any unusual wear or failure of components. Al rose to head the Testing Department and it's 50 man crew.

As an expert driver, Al wrote out the content of the instructional pamphlets and the art staff provided the comic illustrations. Illustrated advertisements in newspapers and magazines encouraged readers to send in for the free booklets. Each year the Ford cars illustrated were updated.

U.S. corn-based ethanol worse for the climate than gasoline, study finds

By Leah Douglas

Feb 14 (Reuters) - Corn-based ethanol, which for years has been mixed in huge quantities into gasoline sold at U.S. pumps, is likely a much bigger contributor to global warming than straight gasoline, according to a study published Monday.

The study, published in the Proceedings of the National Academy of Sciences, contradicts previous research commissioned by the U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) showing ethanol and other biofuels to be relatively green.

President Joe Biden's administration is reviewing policies on biofuels as part of a broader effort to decarbonize the U.S. economy by 2050 to fight climate change.

"Corn ethanol is not a climate-friendly fuel," said Dr. Tyler Lark, assistant scientist at University of Wisconsin-Madison Center for Sustainability and the Global Environment and lead author of the study.

The research, which was funded in part by the National Wildlife Federation and U.S. Department of Energy, found that ethanol is likely at least 24% more carbon-intensive than gasoline due to emissions resulting from land use changes to grow corn, along with processing and combustion.

Geoff Cooper, president and CEO of the Renewable Fuels Association, the ethanol trade lobby, called the study "completely fictional and erroneous," arguing the authors used "worst-case assumptions [and] cherry-picked data."

Under the U.S. Renewable Fuel Standard (RFS), a law enacted in 2005, the nation's oil refiners are required to mix some 15 billion gallons of corn-based ethanol into the nation's gasoline annually. The policy was intended to reduce emissions, support farmers, and cut U.S. dependence on energy imports.

As a result of the mandate, corn cultivation grew 8.7% and expanded into 6.9 million additional acres of land between 2008 and 2016, the study found. That led to widespread changes in land use, including the tilling of cropland that would otherwise have been retired or enrolled in conservation programs and the planting of existing cropland with more corn, the study found.

Tilling fields releases carbon stored in soil, while other farming activities, like applying nitrogen fertilizers, also produce emissions.

A 2019 study from the USDA, which has been broadly cited by the biofuel industry, found that ethanol's carbon intensity was 39% lower than gasoline, in part because of carbon sequestration associated with planting new cropland.

But that research underestimated the emissions impact of land conversion, Lark said.

USDA did not respond to a request for comment.

The U.S. Environmental Protection Agency, which administers the nation's biofuel policy, is considering changes to the program. Under the RFS, Congress set blending requirements through 2022, but not beyond, giving the EPA authority to impose reforms. EPA plans to propose 2023 requirements in May.

Member Charlie Jandik is very proud of his Bohemian heritage. He sent us a number of his favorite recipes to share with the Club. Thanks Charlie!

ORISKOVE ROHLICKY (BOHEMIAN CRESCENTS)

½ lb. butter
½ cup confectioners sugar
1 tsp. vanilla
2 cups sifted cake flour
1 cup chopped nuts - pecans,
walnuts, or almonds

Cream butter, add sugar and blend.
Add flour and nuts slowly.
Then vanilla and mix thoroughly.
Place dough in refrigerator to chill.
Break off small pieces and shape into crescents.
Place on a greased baking sheet and bake in a
350 degree oven for about 20 minutes.
When baked, roll in powdered sugar.

BLESSED EASTER APPETIZER

6-8 hard-boiled eggs, chopped
1½ c. baked smoked Polish sausage, sliced
1½ c. baked ham, cubed
1½ qt. regular buttermilk
1 pt. regular sour cream
½ jar hot or regular horseradish
(or more, to your taste)
6 chopped green onions
1 tsp. garlic powder
1 Tbsp. white vinegar

Mix well: buttermilk, sour cream, horseradish,
garlic powder, and vinegar in a large bowl.
Add eggs, ham, sausage, and green onions.
Mix well again. Store in fridge until ready to eat. Serve with chunks of rye bread.

HRACHOVA POLIVKA (SPLIT PEA SOUP)

Ham bone, with meat attached
1 lb. green split peas
4 quarts water
2 large carrots
1 large onion, diced fine
1 large bay leaf
1 cup celery, sliced crosswise
1 tsp. marjoram
10 peppercorns
4 tbs. margarine
4 tbs. flour

Cover peas with water and allow to boil until tender. Force thru sieve to make puree. Place ham bone in large kettle and add water.
Allow to boil about 1 hour to get all goodness out of the ham bone. Then remove, and add remaining ingredients except oleo and flour.
Boil until vegetables are tender.
Then add puree of peas, bring to boil and add roux of margarine and flour. Salt to taste.
Note: Yellow split peas may be used instead of the green.
